Fergus Falls - Making a Splash

By Jean Bowman, Photos provided

Soon, Fergus Falls visitors will soon be able to take advantage of two new water projects underway! Opening in Spring 2024, the Splash Pad, located downtown along the Otter Tail riverfront, is a free, outdoor park with jets, spray features, wading pools, fountains, and public art. A pergola protects visitors from the sun and there is ample seating providing spots to watch kids play, enjoy outdoor coffee, ice cream or lunch and take in the vista of historic City Hall and the river.

Two sculptures provide whimsical and engaging art at the splash pad. The Wind Sculpture by Carl Zachmann mesmerizes visitors with six giant butterflies fluttering around its axis. The second sculpture is a creation of Jeffrey Zachmann (Carl's dad) and features three bison rocking up and down on a pedestal as though roaming the prairies of west central Minnesota. The wind-powered sculpture will draw visitors into the splash pad, providing an engaging and delightful visitor experience.

Free parking is provided and a sidewalk from the splash pad to downtown businesses keep access safe and convenient for park users. A restroom/ changing structure completes this site, which is Phase 2 of downtown riverfront redevelopment in Fergus Falls.

Phase 1 saw the development of Spies Riverfront Park and Market Pavilion. It is a fantastic draw to downtown with a vibrant farmers market and event space.

The second new water project in development is the new outdoor Fergus Falls Aquatic Center in Roosevelt Park. Approved by voters in 2022, the design and bids are approved and 2024 will largely be a construction year. The aquatic center features a zero-depth entry pool, water slide, four lane lap swimming pool, changing rooms, showers, lockers, and a concession area. The City of Fergus Falls anticipates a spring 2025 grand opening.

Why Fergus Falls is the Perfect Base Camp for Minnesota's Majestic State Parks

Article and Photos by Rolando Felizola

Fergus Falls beckons travelers with its vibrant culture, and stunning natural beauty. But for outdoor enthusiasts, the city's true charm lies in its proximity to two of the state's most majestic parks: Maplewood State Park and Glendalough State Park.

Maplewood State Park

Just a 25-minute drive from Fergus Falls, Maplewood State Park unfolds like a breathtaking watercolor painting. Eight sparkling lakes, including the picturesque Lake Lida with its sandy beach, shimmer amidst rolling hills. Hikers, bikers, and horseback riders can lose themselves on over 50 miles of trails, while anglers cast their lines for a successful fishing day. In fall, the park transforms into a fiery canvas, with sugar maples, oaks, and elms ablaze in shades of crimson, gold, and amber.

Glendalough State Park

A 20-minute drive from Fergus Falls, Glendalough State Park offers a serene escape from the everyday hustle. The park's crown jewel is Annie Battle Lake, a 335-acre "Heritage Fishery" renowned for its abundant sunfish, crappie, and the occasional walleye.

Canoe across the glassy waters, cast a line for a lazy afternoon picnic, or simply soak in the tranquility of the pristine shoreline. Hikers can meander along the scenic Beaver Pond Interpretive Trail, learning about the area's natural history, while the paved Glendalough Trail is perfect for a leisurely bike ride amidst the whispering pines.

Your Home Away from Home

After a day of exploring the wilds, return to the warm embrace of Fergus Falls. The city offers a range of accommodations within walking distance of charming shops and delicious restaurants. Refuel with a hearty meal at a local diner, browse unique souvenirs at Kaddatz Gallery, or catch a live music performance at a cozy brewery.

Unforgettable Experiences Await

Whether you're seeking an adrenaline-pumping hike, a peaceful paddle on a glassy lake, or a cozy evening exploring a charming town, Fergus Falls and its surrounding state parks offer an unforgettable escape. So, pack your bags, lace up your boots, and get ready to discover the magic of West Central Minnesota.

Phelps Mill: A Timeless Treasure Restored

Article and Photos by Rolando Felizola

Standing along the scenic Otter Tail River is a monument to a bygone era: Phelps Mill. This grand old structure, once a bustling center of rural life, has recently undergone a much-needed restoration, breathing new life into its weathered walls and preserving its legacy for generations to come.

A Flourishing Past

Built in 1889, Phelps Mill was a beacon of prosperity during the wheat boom of the late 19th century. Its massive turbines ground wheat into golden flour that fed countless families. The mill's success spurred the growth of the surrounding village, creating a thriving community.

However, the 20th century brought changes. The rise of steam and electric mills, coupled with improved transportation, rendered small, water-powered mills like Phelps obsolete. The mill closed its doors in 1939, leaving behind a silent sentinel to a forgotten era.

A Community Rallies

The story of Phelps Mill was not over yet. In the 1960s, local preservationist Geneva Tweten spearheaded a campaign to save the deteriorating structure. Her efforts led Otter Tail County to acquire the mill and surrounding land, establishing Phelps Mill Park.

For decades, the mill stood as a picturesque but neglected landmark. However, in 2023, a new chapter began.

Recognizing the mill's historical significance and potential, the county embarked on a major restoration project.

The foundation, eroded by time and the relentless river, was painstakingly rebuilt. The basement, was reopened, revealing the intricate machinery that once hummed with life. The iconic red roof was repaired, and the entire structure was carefully stabilized and refurbished.

A Grand Reopening and a Bright Future

In May 2023, Phelps Mill proudly reopened its doors to the public. A ribbon-cutting ceremony marked this momentous occasion, celebrating the culmination of hard work and dedication. The restoration of Phelps Mill is a testament to the power of community and the importance of preserving our heritage.

Today, Phelps Mill stands as a vibrant symbol of resilience and community spirit. Visitors can explore the mill's interior, marveling at the preserved machinery and learning about its fascinating history.

Hikers and bikers can explore scenic trails that winds through the woods and along the riverbank. Families can enjoy picnics on the grassy knolls or cast a line in the Otter Tail River, teeming with fish. Step back in time and witness the enduring spirit of a community that refused to let its history fade away. And of course don't miss the Phelps Mills Festival on July 13 and 14.
